

SLEEPING YOUR WAY TO HEALTH

EXPERTS AGREE THAT THE BENEFITS of a good night's sleep are essential to ensuring good health and maintaining your mental alertness. And while the duration of your sleep is a key factor affecting your quality of rest, adequate support for your body as you sleep is also important to relieve physical tiredness. With the hectic lifestyles of modern city dwellers, more discerning homeowners are investing in a good quality mattress for a well deserved rest.

One of Singapore's leading bedding specialist, Luxury Mattress Collection, offers consumers an exquisite selection of eminent mattress brands from around the world at its one-stop boutique showroom located at Park Mall. Since its inception in 1996, the gallery has been a requisite destination for elite homemakers with uncompromising taste for comfort and lavishness.

In order to offer the best mattresses available, the highly regarded purveyor of quality mattresses forges partnerships with the finest international bedding manufacturers. The boutique handpicks the most sought-after mattresses from these renowned brands, offering them to local homeowners and redefining the concept of luxury bedding in Singapore and the region.

Homemakers who prefer the impeccable rest experience of a customised mattress will delight in the hand-stitched mattresses from Vi-Spring. This English label is credited with having created the first pocketed spring mattress, making it one of the most popular methods of mattress manufacture ever since. Each piece is built to order and crafted entirely by hand even in the modern age of machine manufacturing. From the springs to the upholstery, every component is derived from the finest natural materials and put together by countless hours of manual hand stitching. Vi-Spring mattresses have once graced the cabins of the Titanic and can now be found in the homes of royal families and celebrities including David Beckham and Paris Hilton.

Dutch mattress label Royal Auping stands at the forefront of rigorous scientific research to produce mattresses that offer outstanding ventilation, support and pressure relief. Perfect for use in tropical climates like Singapore's, Royal Auping mattresses "breathe" freely to keep users comfortably cool in their sleep. With more than 20,000 individual pressure points, the mattress also provides unparalleled support in accordance with the user's body shape and sleeping position. With a touch of a button, silent motors adjust the bed's length and incline, allowing users to comfortably read, watch television or even have breakfast in bed.

For homeowners searching for bed designs to complement their interiors, French brand Treca de Paris is replete with a selection of beds and mattresses decked out in stunning opulence. For over 50 years, the label has collaborated with some of the world's greatest designers like Paolo Nava and Veronique Malcourent in creation of beds that are not only ergonomically sound but aesthetically mesmerising as well. The brand's recently launched Platinum collection, touted as its most exceptional range, comprises mattresses fashioned from rare and natural raw materials such as silk, cashmere, camel hair and bamboo fibres. With its finesse in design and quality, Treca de Paris mattresses were selected for use in the prestigious Hotel Ritz Paris and as the bedding on which Hermes' range of fine linens was showcased.

Selecting a bed from Luxury Mattress Collection is much like ordering a bespoke suit. Flawless craftsmanship, superior ergonomics and the finest materials go into cossetting the customer's body, mind and soul. Each mattress is tailor-made to the user's personal preferences, gifting to the user night after night of restful and invigorating sleep while nestled in style and comfort.
